

Weixin Ji

Home Country: China

Degree: B.S. Personal Finance

Graduation Date: May 2016

Employer: United Nations (New York, NY)

Position: Information and Communication Technology Internship

What do you do in your current position?

I assist in internal Information Security analysis including preparing global UN staff procedures on incident response plans and information security awareness projects. Also, I am responsible for undertaking research and I assist with deploying malware endpoint protection solutions by testing, monitoring, and training for specific missions.

How did you find your position?

I got this internship by applying through United Nations Careers online.

Which career services did you find helpful at UW-Madison?

The Business School Career Fair was a good place to meet great companies and recruiters. Also, referral by professor, friends or alumni could be another helpful way in finding a job.

Don't hesitate to discuss your future career plan with your professor, friends, or classmates.

Other than your degree, what skills or experience made you competitive in the US job market?

I think positive attitude, previous intern experience and lively involvement during college made me competitive.

What advice do you have for current international students?

1. Don't hesitate to discuss your future career plan with your professor, friends, or classmates.
2. Make connections with people.
3. Use the writing center to revise your resumes and cover letters.
4. Study hard, talk more, and learn more skills.